MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD*SUBJECT: Audio Countermeasures

1. On 21 December 1964 a meeting was held in the DCI Conference Room at the request of Dr. Eugene Fubini, ostensibly to discuss technical surveillance countermeasures. Those present were:

John Bross, D/NIPE

Thomas Karamessinos, ADP

[REDACTED] DDP/FI/D

[REDACTED] DDP/FI/D

Robert Sproull, Director, ARPA

Dr. Eugene Fubini, Assistant Secretary, DOD

[REDACTED] C/RP/ORD/DD/S&amp;T

Robert M. Chapman, AAD/ORD/DD/S&amp;T

2. This meeting was essentially the preliminary to bilateral coordination of ARPA's technical surveillance countermeasures program with the Agency program outside of the pending mechanism of the Research & Development Sub-Committee of the Technical Surveillance Countermeasures Committee of USIB.

3. A number of miscellaneous items were discussed but Dr. Fubini's main thrust was that he is interested in and concerned with the protection of the Pentagon and other DOD elements against technical surveillance intrusion. He stated that if he could be supplied with the means to defend DOD installations, there would be no need for such a program, and he wanted to make it very clear that he did not want to get involved in arguments on roles and missions, that they have no ambitions to play a leading role in this area, and that his emphasis is on defense and not the positive aspect of things.

4. In this vein, he had taken the trouble to pencil out all the previous positive projects in the ARPA program. He said, however, that he could not guarantee that no positive work would go on since he does not have real control over contracts less than $100,000 and, besides, it is impossible to stop scientists and technical people from thinking.

5. ARPA apparently has two or three million dollars to spend on this program and Fubini is anxious to start moving but, understandably, wishes to have some coordination in the total area of effort. One project in particular that was discussed is one on [redacted] countermeasures, and after some discussion Fubini agreed that there seemed to be adequate work going on in both the positive and negative aspects of this and, furthermore, that there did not seem to be a real threat to DOL at this time.

6. The one result of the meeting is that Fubini is going back and, with Sproull, prepare their final active shopping list. He will then return with Sproull and another ARPA man by the name of Sam Koslov, and during a period of two hours, they will take one hour and read off the short title and short description of each project planned, allowing two or three minutes for each. During the second hour, we will do the same with essentially the Agency countermeasures program and also advise, based on our knowledge of positive threats, of any gaps in their program that should be covered and specify especially sensitive CIA projects.
